

7521118417.txt

Please ensure broadband internet access remains a common carrier function. Allowing internet service providers to charge content providers and subscribers is the epitome of double dipping, can create a form of economic censorship (only those that can pay to play), and sets an unheard of precedent to be felt for years to come.

AT&T doesn't charge whether or not I am talking to my mom or doing commerce with LL Bean.