

7521118929.txt

Please please keep the internet an open and fair technology instead of letting the cable companies take control. Nothing good can come out of that. The internet is a telecommunications service and needs to remain one. Letting ISPs dictate what information gets through is like letting water companies decide what you can do with your water (using water to brush teeth costs more?!?!).