

7521119037.txt

The internet is a vital part of our modern technological infrastructure. Without it most peoples lives would become much more difficult. I believe that the internet should be re-classified as a utility and the internet providers should remain neutral in terms of delivering internet content.

America has one of the worst internet infrastructures in the world. Our speeds are slower than most of the rest of the civilized world, and we pay more than them too, and now we are talking about letting service providers generate even more profit off of controlling content. This is unacceptable, and we should not allow it to happen.

I would also like to note that I do not believe that the FCC should be headed by a former board member of a service provider. There seems to be a gross conflict of interest there that no one seems to be pointing out.

Sincerely
-Tyler Steele