CLASSIFY the Internet as a common telecommunications carrier service! Of course it is a telecommunications service. Everyone knows that, including the greed-motivated big businesses that seek to turn it into a revenue stream that they themselves control! WE ALL KNOW IT.

The Internet should be an equal access playing field, as it was conceived as such, and at this point, the FCC's classifying it as a common telecommunications carrier service is the only way to preserve freedom. Do the right thing for American & the world, despite deep pockets opponents.
