

7521119958.txt

I find it hard to believe you are considering a rule to discriminate against all but those monied people who would like to dominate the internet. What a HORRIBLE idea! Let's put it in another context. What if you could not make a phone call unless you authorized an additional charge to your credit card, because a fortune 500 company had paid for priority service on the phone lines. Please, please, please vote for ACTUAL net neutrality.

John S. Berry