

7521120088.txt

As an engineer, small business owner and technology enthusiast I urge the FCC to protect the interests of the American people and classify broadband internet access as a title II common carrier and regulate ISP's the same as any other telecommunications service provider. The proposed regulations would restrict free access to the internet and stifle innovation and economic growth.