

7521120470.txt

ISP's should be classified as Common Carriers. They should not discriminate data in transit to the end consumer when the consumer is paying for a data connection. The consumer pays for a data connection to the internet - Nothing more nothing less. All data should be treated equal - not "more equal than others".