

7521120925.txt

As an educator, I know it is of vital importance that my students, who already struggle with information literacy and determining if sources of information on the Internet are credible, need access to neutral information unregulated by ISPs. Please do not remove our right to access information.