I have come to the conclusion that the national do not call registry does not work, is a waste of taxpayers money, and should be shut down. I register my home phone number. I still get calls. I ask them to not call as I am on the list. They still call. I call the do not call 800 number and report them. they still continue to call. Many of the offenders that I have reported call me on average, about once a week. With our government's deficit as large as it is, we must eliminate every unnecessary government service that we can. The Do Not Call Registry is at the top of my list.
