Hi there,

I have already written to my Congressman and both of my senators on this topic, however I will happily write to you as well.

I cannot emphasize enough how strenuously I object to the idea of a merger between Comcast and Time Warner Cable.

While I understand that there is a significant amount of political pressure that is being brought to bear to approve this merger, there is absolutely no advantage for the American people. As you know, Comcast is already the single largest cable provider in the United States with Time Warner being the second largest. In almost all of the markets in which they exist, they already have a functional monopoly with little or no competition for either cable or internet services.

Should this merger be allowed to happen, a merger which has no fiscal reasons as neither company is clearly in any financial straits, then a mega corporation will result. It will be so large that no other company will ever be able to compete in any way and it will have a complete monopoly in a giant portion of the United States.

I ask again, please consider rejecting this merger on the grounds of it being good for only the companies in question and no one else.

Thank you,
~Daniel Rhodes.
