Please do not approve this merger request between Comcast and Time Warner Cable. This merger will reduce competition and create a larger, "too big to fail" ISP. This is not good for consumers, businesses, or the USA overall.

This is also a proof point for the need to regulate ISPs. I urge the FCC to restore the principle of online nondiscrimination by reclassifying broadband as a telecommunications service. The Supreme Court hinted at this in recent rulings.

Today the internet is a ubiquitous and critical utility like electricity and water. We need a high speed, robust, world class, open, and universally available internet for all Americans. Despite the claims of telcos and cable operators, this is not the case today. The current state of affairs is not sustainable. The time has come to raise the bar and treat internet access like other public good services.
