

7521121989.txt

It is my opinion that the internet should give equal access to all, and not provide a special status to monied interests and telecom companies. The internet should be considered in the same light as any other utility and provide the same level of service to small publishers and large publishers alike.