

7521122245.txt

Please vote to keep the ISP's net neutral! We consumers already pay well more for little service than any other country.

I lived in Japan from 2000 to 2005. while i was there my basic internet was 25mb by 25mb. while i was there the ISP upgraded my internet to 50 by 50 for the same price, when asked why, they just replied they are upgrading their whole network. This would never happen in money hungry america.