

7521122272.txt

Net Neutrality is incredibly important to the very core of what the Internet is about. Why should one of the few things in our country that actually provides equal opportunities to all peoples be forced once again through a oligarchical machine? Do not cave to the corporations. Show that money does not equate power in every single facet of American existence.