

7521122939.txt

I am strongly opposed to the Comcast/Time-Warner merger. The monopolistic practices of Internet Service Providers are harmful to consumers, limit choice, and create artificially high prices. Consumers in the United States already pay a higher price for slower internet access compared to other developed nations including South Korea and Japan. The proposed merger will enable this problem. We need more competition in this market -- not less -- to inspire innovation and improve bandwidth while lowering the price to the consumer.