I am currently a Time Warner Cable customer and I feel that the merging of Time Warner Cable and Comcast is a grave mistake. I understand how money is the important factor, but if it was about the money I would be perfectly fine with paying more to keep Time Warner Cable. I consider that the channels and internet that I am allowed to have through Time Warner Cable is far more beneficial than Comcast could offer. If I am forced to be a consumer for Comcast I would prefer just dropping all services in general due to how Comcast is considered one of the worst companies in America and how they handle customer complaints as a whole.
