I am complaining about the indecent broadcast of homosexual activity on national tv. Regardless of the attempt of this group of people to brainwash and desensitize people on this matter, the fact remains that it is not natural behavior. It is indecent and immoral and should not be promoted on national tv with no warning whatsoever. This activity, while legal at least in private, is generally held to be morally objectionable and should not be on broadcast television or on the front page of any internet website. Children as well as adults should not be subject to such visual trauma.
