Please protect the pseudo-net-neutrality that we have today and move our country towards true net-neutrality by classifying internet service providers as Title II Common Carriers.

I and my family depend on the internet for all of our communication needs. It allows us to telework and spend less time commuting. It allows us to stay in touch with our families and friends through video chat and telephony. It allows us to receive emergency alerts about the weather, and other hazardous circumstances in our area. It also keeps us entertained by delivering high quality video streams, and networked play of video games.

Next to water, and power, internet connectivity is the most important utility we consume. Do not allow one of the greatest achievements of our country to be usurped by corporate interests.

I know this has been a difficult time for the staff of the FCC, and would like to thank them for their time and dedication.

Best Regards,
Mark Feldhousen
