

7521124496.txt

I am writing in support of FCC taking a strong net neutrality position and to ensure equality of communication over last-mile infrastructure. A free and open Internet is essential to the future competitiveness of the US, and I encourage the government to adopt regulations similar to those recently passed in the EU.