Dear FCC,

I'm Diane Struyk and I live in Coopersville, MI.

Net neutrality, the principle that Internet service providers (ISPs) should treat all data that travels over their networks equally, is important to me because without it ISPs could have too much power to determine my Internet experience by providing better access to some services but not others.

A pay-to-play Internet worries me because Access would be limited for people who may not be able to pay for it. It would be contrary to the American spirit.

The future of the internet matters to not just me, not just Americans, but all of humankind. When we limit who has access to the internet and the equality of that access..we limit the exchange of ideas, creativity, innovation, and shared knowledge. We become a short sighted people controlled by short sighted people.
