

7521127996.txt

The idea of adding a fast lane to the internet, is the anti thesis of everything good about the internet. It will provide corporations with a way to suppress competition and will limit innovation.