

The people of the United States should not be subjected to the new net neutrality rules being imposed by the FCC. These rules will ruin the internet because it will allow Internet Service Providers to slow down the Internet that we already pay for, and charge more for supposed “fast lanes.” These fast lanes could be the same speed as the Internet we have now because America does not currently have the infrastructure to sustain actual Internet fast lanes. Also, Internet Service Providers should not have any control over the content I am viewing. Net neutrality is a very bad idea and I for one sincerely hope that the FCC takes into account the wishes of the American people before they move forward with their misguided plan.
