

7521129141.txt

Rather than guarding against market abuses by dominant firms, the Net Neutrality rules will hinder innovation, impede competition, and block consumer price protections. Congress and at the FCC should not restore these unnecessary and harmful regulations.