

7521129604.txt

Any FCC rules that would allow ISPs to decide how I can access certain content online are unacceptable and will be disastrous for the promise of an innovative and open Internet. How stupid are you guys? This would destroy new internet start ups! You could be preventing the next amazon.com or the next google. Please pull your heads out of your collective brown eyed willy's and reconsider this colossal mistake that you are making. Thanks and have a good day. Scumbags.