Broadband is a necessary tool that I use every day for business and personal use. A neutral net allows me to work from home and help grow my business. It also saves energy by allowing me to efficiently order items and services online and have them sent in a most efficient manner. Finally, a neutral net allows innovation and efficiencies to organically develop new industries, products and yet to be discovered solutions. Do not allow current ISPs (cable) to try and stifle innovation by claiming they are looking out for the rights of their customers. It is all about protecting their current business model and refusing to be part of the solution. Please support net neutrality to keep America competitive in the future.
