

7521130609.txt

ISPs should be reclassified as telecommunications companies and regulated like phone companies. To do otherwise is certainly not in the best interest of consumers the FCC represents.