

7521130680.txt

An open and free internet is not only important, but a fundamental right in the interest of spreading content and ideas. By crippling this you are succumbing to the dysfunctional and tyrannical efforts of corporations who wish to nickel and dime customers while ultimately handicapping everything the internet stands for.