Dear FCC,

I'm Matt Bauer and I live in Black Mountain, NC

Net neutrality, the principle that Internet service providers (ISPs) should treat all data that travels over their networks equally, is important to me because without it ISPs could have too much power to determine my Internet experience by providing better access to some services but not others.

A pay-to-play Internet worries me because new, innovative services that can't afford expensive fees for better service will be less likely to succeed.

The Internet is important to me because, as an internet user, I need to know that there will not be barriers that will hold me back from new ideas and services. If ISP subscribers have difficult, uneven access, then this could have potential life changing effects on Americans.

Please reclassify broadband internet as a title II common carrier telecommunications service
