

7521131546.txt

I am a private citizen; I represent nobody other than myself.

The rule as proposed by Chairman Wheeler solves no problems other than the "problem" of Comcast (and other ISPs) not having enough money.

To actually protect network neutrality -- an absolute requirement in modern civil society, nothing will help unless the FCC redefines Internet Service Providers as Title Two Common Carriers.