This comment is to express my absolute opposition regarding paid prioritization of traffic on the internet. ISPs should be classified as public utilities and forced to allow competition. I currently have 1 ISP option in my area, which is standard for most of the country.

If this proceeding goes through it will do immeasurable harm to the citizens of this country that rely on the inter-connectivity of the internet to live. The internet should remain neutral to corporate and political interests, not prioritized for the people with the most money.
