

7521132873.txt

Technology and innovation are the future of this country and the world. The net neutrality investigation and possible legislation will allow internet providers to price their services above most American's budget. By doing so we will once again put the American people at a disadvantage.

Not only are American's using internet for personal use but for business as well, this type of legislation will burden not only the public but business as employees grapple with the cost.