

7521133149.txt

The future of the Internet matters to me.

Any FCC rules that would allow ISPs to decide how I can access certain content online are unacceptable and will be disastrous for the promise of an innovative and open Internet.

Congress and the public stand united on this.