

7521135122.txt

Comcast is already a large enough monopoly of a company, having its hands in cable, phone, Internet, as well as NBC Universal. The company has numerous times proven itself as the worst-rated company in America in a variety of consumer satisfaction polls. Why would you want to give a giant more power?