

7521138383.txt

Please reclassify Internet Service Providers as Title Two Common Carriers. Internet Service Providers, like telephone companies, should be considered common carriers. To cover costs, they should feel free to adjust rates for everyone traversing their infrastructure equally. Any unequal quality of service or ideas like a "fast lane" create barriers to entry for other businesses into the market.