

My name is Troy Berry. I own and operate a few businesses that utilize the internet as an integral part of customer acquisition, sales and advertising through social media. Net neutrality as you are reviewing it and proposing impede my business and millions like me and other small businesses that utilize the internet to compete against larger corporations with more money and resources. Your proposed rules hinder my ability to compete and as I have fewer resources than corporations or larger companies I will not be able to compete essentially financially crippling my ability to continue.

Stop creating rules and regulations that hinder small business in favor of larger corporations with regards to commerce on the internet and net neutrality regulations.
