

7521148024.txt

It is my hope that you at the FCC recognize the critical importance of protecting net neutrality and prevent companies from discriminating against content creators based on how much they can pay. This scheme will choke American innovation in the internet arena and limit our fundamental right of free speech. Please stand firm against the money-hungry broadband providers, reclassify broadband as a telecommunications service, and preserve net neutrality for all. Thank you.