

7521149697.txt

An online dictatorship imposed by the monopolizing ISPs should be considered a criminal act, and actions need to be taken against as such. Crippling content access is anti-capitalist, anti-freedom, anti-American. Save the internet, and set a precedent by designating ISPs as common carriers, and designating the internet a utility.

Anything else will only serve to cripple our freedom in the name of hubris at the hands of multi-billion dollar corporations.