

7521150565.txt

Currently ISP's are classified as "information services" thus requiring any and all data open at the same rates without discrimination. Big telecommunication companies are attempting to charge the end user and websites two and even three times for the same information, this is completely wrong and should never be allowed to pass. Broadband carriers need to be placed under Title II Common Carrier section of the Communications Act and held to those standards.

Thank you for your time.