I run a small business out of my home that relies heavily on the internet for promotion and research purposes. The necessity of fast speeds and unencumbered access are paramount to the success of my livelihood. Just as electricity was able to modernize every corner of America and spur the growth of the American economy to great heights in the early 20th century, so the internet has done again in the 21st. We MUST treat this as a public utility to make sure that everyone has fair and open access. Please protect net neutrality and give the American people what they need and deserve. Thank you.
