

7521152320.txt

I believe that disbanding net neutrality is a gross violation of the rights of freely finding and accessing information on the internet. I am disgusted that something is passing that will essentially wipe out small business online and websites without the financial means to 'promote' themselves. I think it is absolutely unacceptable to allow an ISP to control what I have access to or what I have FAST access too based solely on them making more money. The internet was created as a way to connect everyone - from the smallest website to the largest conglomerate - and to share information. Going against net neutrality is essentially allowing ISPs to have a monopoly over what I can and can not access. I really hope that you take time to reconsider your decisions regarding net neutrality as you are making a decision that affects every single person in the United States who has access to the internet.