

7521153348.txt

I depend on Net Neutrality and demand that the FCC protect the open Internet by reclassifying ISPs as common carriers.

It is extremely important that we remain a leading force in the economics of technology, and we will not be able to do so if we allow the internet to be destroyed by those large companies who are simply hoping to make more money now, at the expense of the innovative future of our country.