

7521155625.txt

It's time for the government to actually work for the people rather than the corporations who spend their money trying to sway legislation. I am in favor of net neutrality and am amazed and appalled that the FCC is even considering any other option.