

7521155802.txt

Don't let these two monoliths hook up. Consumers are already between a rock and a hard place as to internet providers, why would we ever want to limit our options further? We should be fostering competition, not eliminating it.