I have usually supported Obama, through thick and thin. But to hear that the new FCC Chairman was the biggest lobbyist for cable companies, and NOW is in charge of what's going on with this Net Neutrality crap... Fuck Obama. Stop Internet Fuckery! I have hated Cable companies for the longest time, and to hear now that they're going to be in control of how fast I can be given information is the most massive heart break I've ever felt when a politician has shat on me.
