

14-28 Protecting and Promoting the Open Internet

I want to convey that I believe that the FCC should not allow internet service providers to make deals with internet company's that allow for speedier access to the internet sometimes referred to as "paid prioritization." This may adversely impact innovation and impact individual's access to information as delivered by the internet.

Internet service providers should not be able to prioritize access to the internet in a manner that affectively creates a "fast lane" and "slow lane." The FCC should support a free and open internet for all people of the United States and I ask that the FCC reclassify internet service providers as Title II common carriers.
