The FCC must keep Net Neutrality. You are looking at fixing something that isn't broken. Keep the internet a level playing field. Startup companies would have an extreme disadvantage if Net Neutrality were changed. There is no reason for a two-tiered system. Ending Net Neutrality would allow big companies to buy themselves into a faster internet and leave the rest lagging behind. This would allow companies that provide internet service to slow down internet speeds and hold customers "hostage" to get faster speeds. This should NOT happen.
