My family and I are against nudity, lewdness, profanity and teenage sexuality on public tv. Children can watch tv at any hour. Even being the remote police, I continuously switch from station to station, to omit such demoralizing media from being viewed. It was close to every station. So, now I've dropped basic cable and have antenna. Still the same thing. More lewdness, profanity, teenage sexuality, teenage pregnancy, etc. Our country is defiling itself through its media - using freedom of speech as their "catch all" to justify the means to an end. Mostly, it's men who are for 1/2 naked women, openly sexual scenes and the nonchalant attitude "if it feels good, do it." However, there is no thinking ahead (insight) of what the outcome of their actions will be: Physically, mentally and morally. If we want to have a strong country and protect our youth as their brains are developing, it starts from their environment which influences these minds. Stop the media-based brainwashing of our youth so they are allowed to grow up to be ethically moral and outstanding citizens of this country. In other words: Let kids be kids! Don't make them grow up too fast to take on adult responsibilities that the media shoves down their throats and tells them are OK. Their undeveloped decision-making skills cannot handle negative consequences. It has nothing to do with Atheism, Christianity or otherwise. It's the difference between juvenile and adult: "Underage" or "Age of Reason."
