The level playing field of the Internet has been crucial in our recent progress both technological and as societies. To create a fast lane for paying content will put volunteer, free, and start up services which could create real value at a tremendous disadvantage and strangle them in the cradle. Other countries will get to implement those ideas without this burden, & lead the way, reap the jobs and rewards.

We need Download Police only to ask cable companies WHY? when speeds vary.

Thank You,
