

7521161974.txt

The job of the FCC is to regulate these communications companies, not be the pawn of corporate interests. Ending net neutrality will only benefit large corporations like comcast and time warner. There is no justification for this whatsoever. The internet isn't broken and doesn't need you to fix it.