Please place Internet providers under the classification used for telephone companies. They deliver Internet content only, they do not produce any of the Internet content they deliver. The ISPs could throttle down any content they didn't like, such as political websites, spiritual websites, international news, and any other thing they might consider to be controversial or at odds with their beliefs or political leanings.

Allowing these ISPs to run the Internet will create a cartel. Please don't allow them to take away our freedom to listen to, watch, or read what we want online.
